

DOG SHOW TO BE AMONG FEATURES OF BIG STATE FAIR

BY R. A. KIRK
Secretary Copper State Kennel Club
"Mankind's best friend" will be well represented at the Arizona state fair during the first three days of the event, Nov. 8-10. The commissioners have planned a dog show to be given under the auspices of the Copper State Kennel club, with the sanction of the parent organization of dogdom, the American Kennel club. It will be the first opportunity ever afforded Arizonians to see some of the really famous canine stars. Under the A. K. C. classification more than 80 breeds may be represented, and the management has the promise of many entries of the rarer breeds from points outside the state.

American Kennel club rules, which will govern the forthcoming dog show, Nov. 8, 9 and 10, do not require that a dog be registered to show. This assures the interest of those who have either failed to secure the pedigree of their pets or who own dogs not entitled to registration that would furnish keen competition to the canine with a long line of blooded ancestry. There are, however, many fine specimens of pedigreed dogs in the state and it is expected that there will be a large entry from Arizona.

The Copper State Kennel club's copper medal will be awarded to the best dog in almost every class, together with the much coveted A. K. C. blue, red and yellow ribbons. More than fifteen beautiful copper cups have been donated as special premiums to be given in the following classes:

Gov. Thomas E. Campbell, copper cup for the best dog in show.
Hon. Mit Simms, copper cup for the best opposite sex.
Carl H. Anderson, copper cup for best puppy in show.
Dunbar Spring Service company, copper cup for best toy dog.
McArthur Bros., copper cup for best

VOCATIONAL TRAINING FOR EX-SERVICE MEN SUBJECT OF SURVEY

Definite steps toward giving disabled ex-service men vocational training in the Salt River valley are expected to follow the visit here the last three days of L. W. Bartlett, assistant district vocational officer, with headquarters in San Francisco, for the rehabilitation division of the federal board for vocational education. Mr. Bartlett, in company with Fred P. Rowlen, in charge of the local work of the board, has been making a survey of the local field.

Among the vocational educational possibilities investigated by Mr. Bartlett was the matter of agricultural training at the experimental farm station near Mesa.

The matter of vocational training for disabled ex-service men at the Tempe normal also was included in Mr. Bartlett's investigations here in the course of which he conferred with Governor Campbell and President Matthews of the normal. Mr. Bartlett today will be in Tucson, making a survey of vocational training possibilities at the University of Arizona, where a

C. A. Sheldon, copper trophy for best opposite sex.
W. L. Barnum, copper trophy for best Boston terrier, opposite sex.
United Verde Extension Mining company, copper cup for best brood mare together with two or more of progeny.

Dogs in all classes will be judged by James Ewins of Los Angeles, who has an enviable reputation among dog fanciers throughout the country. Owing to the large number of entries the show will be housed in the large brick building opposite the main entrance to the grand stand. Premium lists will be available about Sept. 25 and may be obtained by application to T. H. Adams, superintendent, 30 South Fourth avenue, or to R. A. Kirk, 354 North Second street.

number of ex-service men already are students.

There are at present about 1,500 ex-service men subject to vocational training in Arizona. Mr. Bartlett said last night, and the number is expected to double within a year. Most of them now in this state are tubercular, and these form the main problem. About 200 of the men are now undergoing vocational training, and it is intended to greatly broaden the work in the state to care for more men.

W. A. Burk, in charge of all vocational work in hospitals, will visit this city in connection with the work next month, following the return of Mr. Rowlen from the American Legion convention, Sept. 27, 28 and 29. During Mr. Rowlen's absence his work here will be taken care of by C. G. Dolman, who will come from Flagstaff.

Vocational training for disabled ex-service men is divided into two classes, education while the man is in the hospital and education after he is out. The two branches are along the same lines, however, and both tend to but one thing—to enable the man to become a useful and efficient workman and citizen.

Training matters looked into by Mr. Bartlett here included the possibilities of giving the men training at the normal school, at the agricultural experimental farm, and in private educational and technical institutions. Much interest is being taken in the possibility of giving training in agriculture at the experiment station near Mesa, as it involves reclamation and the giving to ex-service men of opportunities to obtain farm lands.

HATS SHOW NOVEL

FLOWER TRIMMING
Paris has invented a novel use for flowers on large hats. The soft flowers are worn close to the face edging the underside of the brim where it joins the crown.

A person's thoughts can often be detected by the involuntary movement of his thumbs.

It is — for me!

Wings of the morning!

We wish we could say that Schilling's is the only coffee worth your money. We say it about Schilling Tea, and it is true: Schilling Tea is actually cheaper per cup than any other tea you can buy; it is also much finer.

But there are other good coffees beside Schilling's—other coffees made from fine full flavored coffee beans, ground properly so that you get all the delightful fragrance and rich taste of fine coffee, and packed in vacuum-sealed tins which is the only way to keep the full flavor and strength for your breakfast cup.

All of these coffees are good. Two or three are really fine. But they differ somewhat in taste.

So the way to get the coffee you like best—and the only way—is to try these vacuum-sealed coffees, one after another, and choose the one you like best.

We make it easy to try Schilling's: your money back if you want it.

Phoenix Feed and Feed Company

We Never Shut Down

Live stock keeps coming to market and we have to keep buying it and putting it through our plants whether conditions are good or poor.

Swift & Company has no control over the quantity of live stock shipped to market. Live-stock producers ship their animals to the big stock-yards markets, wherethey are sold through commission men who represent the shippers.

The result is that the live-stock supply fluctuates from week to week. We have to buy the animals, however many or few there are; and they have to be handled without delay.

We cannot hold dressed beef, lamb, mutton, veal, fresh pork, or any other fresh perishable meats, but have to sell them at the prevailing market prices within a few days. If we try to sell at half a cent under the prevailing prices, retailers would naturally buy from us as long as our supply lasted, and that supply would be used up very quickly. On the other hand, if we try to sell for half a cent higher than the market prices, the retailers, who shop around, would buy from our competitors and we would have our fresh meat left on our hands. We have to sell our products every day at prevailing market prices whatever those prices may be.

Half a cent up or down in the wholesale price means the difference between profit and loss to us.
